Introduction

The ClareVision Plus (CVP) CVP-B4460-01 4-Channel NVR firmware v3.4.99 Build 180207 update changes the default authorization property from Digest to Digest/Basic.

Digest to Digest/Basic

Once the firmware is updated, the NVR's connection configuration is set to digest/basic by default. This setting allows ClareHome access to the NVR.
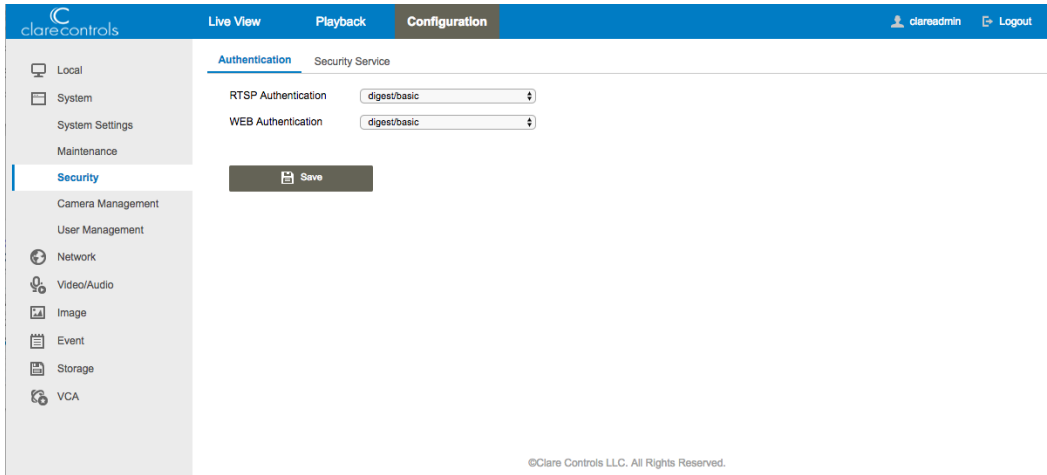

Note: This default is only available after the updated. You can manually change the NVR setting.

To manually change the authorization property:

1. Using your computer, connect to the same network as the camera.

2. Browse to the camera's IP address, and then login using the camera's credentials.

3. Browse to Authorization.

Configuration > System > Security > Authorization

4. Set both the RTSP and WEB Authentication dropdowns to digest/basic.
5. Click Save.

Updating the firmware

The new NVR firmware is found on the Clare Controls Knowledge Base. You must download and extract the firmware before you can continue.

To download the new firmware:

1. Access the Clare Controls Knowledge Base ClareVision Plus Firmware page.

   https://www.clarecontrols.com/helpcenter/clarevision-plus-firmware

2. Scroll to find the correct firmware, and then click the firmware link.

   The firmware begins to download.

3. Once the firmware is downloaded, extract the information to the desired location in your computer.

To update the firmware using the camera's web UI:

1. Using your computer, connect to the same network as the camera.

2. Browse to the camera's IP address, and then login using the camera's credentials.

3. Browse to Maintenance.

   Configuration > System > Maintenance > Upgrade & Maintenance

4. Under the Upgrade heading, click Browse. Select the previously extracted firmware.

5. Click Upgrade and confirm the upgrade.

   Note: The upgrade reboots the NVR.
